Instruments Division

MASTER, a division of WESTEAM, is a brand business unit focused on the manufacturing of premium instruments.

MASTER designs and customizes state-of-the-art temperature sensors, made to match expected performances for a wide range of industrial applications.

Master manufactures and supplies a wide range of:

- THERMOCOUPLES
- THERMORESISTANCES
- THERMOELEMENTS
AND ACCESSORIES

Each MASTER product is the result of a top quality materials choice, and of our craftsmen's attention for details and for realizing and testing each instrument.

Every single component is customized and designed to work in critical environmental and functional conditions.

With MASTER sensors, we assure our customers high performances concerning reliability, precision and durability, a suitable and effective answer to many applied engineering problems.
